Dear Missy Lewis Deeter, CAE, CMP:

I am writing you to express my interest in serving the IAFP in the position of President-Elect.

As you know, since my days in medical school, I have been committed to the mission of family medicine. It's been my honor to serve on the IAFP Board of Directors in the past as a student, resident, and now practicing physician member. I hope to continue to represent our members and state in a leadership role.

My medical practice has given me a unique perspective into the challenges our state's most marginalized communities face when it comes to their health. I have also experienced first-hand the barriers our dedicated family doctors face while trying to do their job in a high demand environment. My experience continues to motivate me to be involved as a voice for my colleagues and for my patients. I believe that family medicine, when valued and supported in the healthcare system, is the key to improving public health.

My track record of engagement in my state chapter and the AAFP, as well as my leadership, service, and professional efforts more broadly speak to the commitment and experience that I can continue to bring to the IAFP as President-Elect. It is my most sincere goal to serve our members and represent our state with excellence in this role.

I thank you for your consideration and welcome any further questions you may have regarding my interest.

Sincerely,

Juan Carlos Venis, MD, MPH
