LEADING FROM WITHIN: PRESENCE, PURPOSE, AND EVERYDAY INFLUENCE

Leadership doesn't begin with authority or a title – it begins with how we show up. This interactive workshop explores self-awareness, authenticity, and presence as the foundation for everyday leadership – no title required. Through reflection, discussion, and simple practical tools, participants will participate in an experiential workshop that emphasizes honesty over self-judgment. Rather than focusing on leadership theory, it centers on real moments, real choices, and the everyday influence each person carries. Participants will leave with increased awareness of how they show up, practical tools to stay grounded and present, and a clear commitment to applying what they've learned in their work and relationships.
