7 The Indiana Academy of Family Physicians Budget and Finance Committee met during the last year to 8 review the accounts and investments of the IAFP. The IAFP continues to be in good financial health, 9 and finished 2017 in a much better position than anticipated during a year with a successful AAFP
10 board campaign and preparation for the Puerto Rico CME trip. We have budgeted wisely and used 11 resources efficiently to help achieve the strategic goals of the Academy. It has been quite a few years 12 since a dues increase has been recommended, and we are pleased to again recommend that dues 13 remain steady for 2019.

15 We are now in our third year with Skander Nasser, CPA and Bradley Associates and have been quite 16 pleased with this continued relationship. They have provided timely financial statements and have 17 submitted all filings well within deadlines. It has been a very positive working relationship between the 18 Bradley and IAFP staffs and we look forward to continuing this relationship.
