A Home in Theta Chi

THE RATTLE

VOLUME 88, NUMBER 1

SPRING 2008

The Rattle, The Alumnus Publication of the Foundation Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity, Inc., is published in May and November. It is provided to undergraduate members of Theta Chi chapters, colonies, and interest groups; alumnus brothers for three years after graduation; anyone who has provided a financial contribution to the Grand Chapter from 1966–86 and/or to the Foundation Chapter since 1986, and to administrators of numerous colleges, universities, and Greek organizations. Cathie Morgan serves as Editor. Jody Toth serves as Art Director. Maury Boyd & Associates of Indianapolis, Indiana, develops and produces the magazine. Quebecor World Midland of Midland, Michigan, handles the printing and mailing production. Send all materials for publication and all address changes to Editor, The Rattle at the address listed below.

To Our Readers:

We would like to apologize for the typographical errors you may have noticed in the text of the Fall 2007 issue of The Rattle.

The magazine goes through a minimum of three proofreadings so that such errors can be eliminated prior to publishing. Last time, unfortunately, after the third and final draft was approved and released to be printed, portions of an earlier draft (with errors) were uploaded to the printer by mistake. Sadly, the problem was not caught until full production of The Rattle had been completed.

Our magazine has been produced using the same production vendors and review processes for, at least, the last 10 years, and this is the first time an error of this magnitude has occurred. Throughout this time, our vendors have worked diligently to help us produce the best magazine possible for our Fraternity. You may be certain that we have analyzed the process and taken all possible steps to insure that such problems never occur again.

Maury Boyd & Associates and I appreciate your understanding in this matter and hope all those whose names were misspelled and who were offended by the typographical errors they saw in the last issue will accept our deepest apologies.

Sincerely,

Cathie Morgan

Build on a Foundation of Alumni Support

By Michael P. Maloney, National President (Delta Upsilon/Arizona State '87)

This summer, my eight years of service on the Grand Chapter comes to an end. As I reflect on my total of 15 years of volunteering for Theta Chi, I am thankful for the many friendships I have gained. It has been a privilege to serve with and get to know many outstanding brothers. Working with passionate people on a common task creates wonderful friendships—my Theta Chi experience proves this.

Along with the normal work of the Grand Chapter, I am amazed at how much life I have witnessed as a Theta Chi volunteer. Just since my election to the Grand Chapter in 2000, my fellow board members and I have shared in each other's weddings, retirements, divorces, births of children and grandchildren, illnesses and the losses of loved ones. Serving eight years with such selfless brothers has been an honor.

As I continue to reflect, I think about what advice I can share after eight years on the Grand Chapter. One thing I have learned stands out. The single most important characteristic to a Theta Chi chapter's long-term success is sustained and active alumnus involvement. The chapters with active and involved alumni are the chapters that thrive when all goes well and that overcome adversity when trouble arises.

Alumnus brothers serving as Chapter Advisors or House Corporation officers provide a chapter with the foundation on which to build. Their advice and guidance helps the chapter stay focused on what is important. For the volunteer, the reward is watching each year as new members join the chapter. Then years pass and those same new members mature into chapter leaders, college graduates and responsible adults. For the volunteer, each year is a kind of rebirth. Even though the tasks and challenges may remain the same, the players constantly change. It is this change that keeps you coming back.

As I finish my time on the Grand Chapter and return my focus to my own chapter, my hope is that you, too, will see a lot of life by volunteering to help Theta Chi. If you are an alumnus member, I encourage you get involved with your own chapter or a chapter near you. Serving on the House Corporation or as a Chapter Advisor is a great way to give back to Theta Chi. Your help is needed . . . and you will see a lot of life.

Fraternally,

Michael P. Maloney

WHAT MAKES A

By Patrick T. O'Connor (Chi/Auburn University '78)

George Walthall walked onto the Auburn University campus as a freshman in the fall of 1930. Brother Walthall graduated in 1934. He never spent a night as a student at Auburn when he did not live in the Theta Chi house.

Seventy-three years later, on September 22, 2007, Brother Walthall, now retired and living in Prattville, Alabama, was one of many Chi Chapter alumni who attended the grand opening of the chapter's fourth house at Auburn University. These men, like spirits come to life from some history book, are the true foundation of Chi Chapter's new house.

Another solid rock from Chi's past, Brother Arnold Fagen, President of the Chapter in 1949–50, returned for the grand opening from his current home on Jekyll Island, Georgia, to the campus where he played football for another Chi Chapter alumnus—Coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan, class of 1932.

Brother Charles E. "Buddy" Davis, class of 1959, is one of four Chi alumni for whom a major building on campus is named. The recently completed Aerospace Engineering building at Auburn was dedicated in honor of Brother Davis during the fall of 2007. Brother Davis, accompanied by several family members, made the trip to Auburn for the grand opening from his home in Laguna Niguel, California. Brother Davis proved his belief in the value of fraternity not only by his presence, but, also, through his generosity—as the lead donor in the Chapter's capital campaign.

Brother Charlie Stephenson, class of 1973, also laid a figurative cornerstone for the new house through his generosity and vision. Brother Stephenson purchased the former house and property at 712 West Magnolia Avenue, which Chi had occupied since 1952, for a premium price in a transaction that most observers would say was motivated chiefly by his loyalty to the Fraternity.

Brother Gary Barner, class of 1975, arrived for the grand opening with a bundle of photographs, newspaper clippings and memorabilia from the 1970s when he was an active member of the Chapter. Present, too, were the Chi alumni who spent the better part of two years donating every free moment (and some moments that were not so free) to the arduous process of selling the former house, procuring land for the new house, securing superior architectural and construction providers, monitoring and pushing the construction process, and helping the Chapter stay focused through the time it was without a house. This group of dedicated Chi brothers included Jack Waddey '65, Harry Strack, Jr. '65, Dan Weisenberger '89, Woody Crochet '93, Joseph Couch '96, Jay Wilson '96, Travis Hargrove '01, and the author of this article.

HOUSE ?

Theta Chi brothers from around the country traveled to Auburn for the grand opening, including Regional Counselor Brother Bill Thomas, Alpha Phi '63, a great friend of Chi through the years and a significant contributor to the capital campaign. Brother Dale Taylor, former National President and current Executive Director, joined Brother David DeVol, former National President and key man in the efforts of his chapter, Gamma Theta, to construct a new house at San Diego State University. Making the trip from Theta Chi's International Headquarters in Indianapolis were Brothers Jim Powell, Associate Executive Director, and Brother Jereme Grinslade, Director of Alumni Resources and Housing. Rounding out the crowd of several hundred people were numerous wives, moms and dads, siblings, friends and campus leaders, including Auburn University President Dr. Jay Gogue (Sigma Chi) and Auburn Athletic Director Emeritus and well known writer, David Housel (Phi Gamma Delta). Last, but certainly not least, were 72 active and new members of Chi Chapter.

The end result of architect Bob Cunningham's breathtaking design is a graceful, yet dynamic assemblage of bricks and mortar. But the house itself is no more Theta Chi Fraternity than were the prior buildings occupied by Chi Chapter—whether it be the most recently occupied 1950s vintage house at 712 West Magnolia; or Mell Hall, which has architectural similarities to the new house and is now home to the University Association for Continuing Higher Education; or the original wood frame house on College Street that served as Chi's first home. The true essence of Chi Chapter and the fabric of the entire Fraternity lies in the commitment, spirit and brotherhood of George Walthall, Buddy Davis, Shug Jordan and all the other men who followed the path of Freeman and Chase.

It has been said that it takes a village to raise a child. In the context of Theta Chi, the maxim can be expressed in slightly different terms. It takes the Helping Hands of many to build a chapter. Near the end of fall semester 2007, Chi Chapter initiated 28 men using the chapter room of its new house. These men are the present and future of Chi Chapter. May they learn from and forever emulate the George Walthalls of Theta Chi Fraternity—living proof that "Theta Chi is for Life." ■

Formula for Building a House:

- 1 Core of dedicated alumni leaders
- + 1 tireless House Corporation
- + Scores of generous donors
- + 1 inspired architectural firm
- + 1 great contractor
- + 72 undergraduate members for inspiration

The House That Golf Built

By Joseph Couch (Chi/Auburn University '96)

Photos contributed by Village Photographers, Auburn, AL

Chi Chapter's newly completed "dream home."

April 16, 2005, began as an ordinary Saturday in Auburn, Alabama. A group of Chi Chapter alumni and undergraduates were gathered at the Auburn University Club for a golf tournament that had been organized to bring alumni together and give the undergraduates some exposure to these alumni. Approximately 20 brothers participated in the golf tournament and everyone was quite pleased by the turnout. After the golf tournament had drawn to a close and the awards had been given out, there was an informal gathering at the Auburn University Club. A new chapter house was on everyone's mind and, in fact, some of the participants had met with architect, Bob Cunningham, earlier that morning. The actively involved alumni knew that Chi's House Corporation owned a valuable piece of land, but they could have never predicted what would transpire during the subsequent week.

Dr. Jeffrey Smith, Chi '86, introduced his wife, Kristi, to everyone who was present at the reception following the golf tournament. Someone mentioned to her that the Chapter's alumni leadership had spoken with an architect earlier that day and had learned that a few offers had been made on the Chapter property. As luck would have it, it turned out that Kristi, a realtor, felt the Theta Chi property was worth much more than the offers that had been submitted thus far.

On April 16, the House Corporation knew that Chi Chapter had a piece of land worth about $900,000. On April 22, the House Corporation entered into a sales contract with Chi alumnus, Charlie Stephenson '73, for $2,180,000. Chi Chapter secured a corner lot on new Fraternity Row on University property and was on its way to a much needed new house. That is how Chi had a golf tournament and got a new chapter house.

The truth is, while Chi's alumnus leaders were incredibly fortunate to cross paths with Kristi Smith in 2005, the real work began many years earlier. Many alumni held roles on the House Corporation, but Chi alumni Paul Sweatt '59, Robert Carswell '79, Bailey Williams '59, Max Ellis '51, John Floyd '78, and Dan Weisenberger '89 deserve special mention for keeping the ship upright in the years leading up to the new millennium. There had been intermittent discussions dating back at least 15 years regarding the need for a new chapter house or at least a significant renovation, but, for one reason or another, a project was never feasible. On November 11, 2000, Chi's alumni leaders convened a meeting of actives and alumni and announced an intention to explore construction and renovation options. Although it would be nearly seven years before the dream of a new house would become a reality, it was this meeting that marked the beginning of Chi's effort to obtain a new Chapter house.

Let's fast forward from November 2000 to April 2005. Once the final offer was on the table, the House Corporation and other interested alumni went into overdrive mode. Attorneys were hired to verify that the House Corporation was correctly incorporated. The alumni leadership had to ensure that all non-profit tax returns were in order. The alumni had to have confidence that the Chapter was organized enough to go without a chapter house for a year or more. Communication with alumni was increased and fundraising efforts had to be planned. The Advisory Board had to consult with alumni and undergraduates to decide what type of house to build. Emails flew back and forth. Between 2005 and 2007, somewhere in the neighborhood of 15,000 emails were sent among the members of the Advisory Committee regarding the new chapter house.

The House Corporation hired Columbia, Missouri-based Cunningham + Associates, Inc. Architects to design the new chapter house and to act as a partner during the construction process. The Construction Advisory Committee, which was formed to oversee the building project, had many lengthy and detailed discussions regarding the design and functionality of the house. During the design phase, the Advisory Committee received crash courses on fire sprinkler systems, university leases, requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act, the procedures of various state, local and university building code enforcement agencies, and the list goes on. Once the house had been designed, the Advisory Committee selected Russell Construction of Alabama as its general contractor. Heavy equipment arrived in August 2006 and began clearing the lot where the new house would be built. It was finally happening.

Although it is truly amazing that the house received its Certificate of Occupancy less than one year later, there were several anxious moments during the construction process. Bob Cunningham, Chi's tenacious architect who specializes in Greek housing, was instrumental in keeping us on schedule and helping us negotiate the various obstacles that arose from time to time. So goes the story of the general process of how Chi's new home was built.

So, what did Chi actually build? Chi's new house is approximately 20,000 square feet in size with a 1,900 square foot covered pavilion for large social functions. The red brick and cast stone exterior of the house is traditional, yet modern, and is similar in character to many other buildings at Auburn University. The entire building is equipped with a Type 13 sprinkler system. There are 34 beds in the house, 24 of which are situated in single residence rooms with the rest being in five double residence rooms. There are three rooms on the main level and 26 on the second level, as well as a resident advisor apartment on the main level. All rooms on the second level have built-in lofts and closets. A deliberate decision was made to have two community bathrooms on the second level instead of connecting the residence rooms with semi-private bathrooms. Aside from adding cost and complicating maintainability, private bathrooms would have been one more incentive for the undergraduates to stay in their rooms and not make their way about the common space in the house.

The need for common space was a prominent topic of discussion during the design of the house. Except for three residence rooms, the resident advisor apartment and a commercial-grade kitchen, the main level of the house is all common space. This common space features a large television lounge, a sitting room, men's and women's restrooms, a conference room, an office, a study room, a private sitting room for alumni, and a dining room. The main level of Chi's new house was designed to promote camaraderie and fraternity.

The basement level is separate from the rest of the house in that one has to walk outside to get to it. Having meals, meetings and parties in one room took a heavy toll on our previous home at 712 West Magnolia, and this was something that needed to be avoided in the new house. By making the basement essentially separate from the rest of the house and placing a covered pavilion at basement level, the Advisory Committee felt that the house would experience less wear and tear and so far that has proven to be true. The basement itself consists of another TV lounge as well as a laundry room and a dedicated chapter room. The basement lounge has ample seating, a pool table, a video game and a large high-definition television. It is reminiscent of a small ESPN Zone. Band parties are a major part of the social scene at Auburn and one thing that was set in stone early in the process was that there could never be a band party inside the new Theta Chi house, hence the decision to include a pavilion in the house plans. The pavilion has power connections sufficient for most band equipment and a permanent stage that was built by some of Chi's undergraduate members. Chi Chapter has an exceptional house that should remain in top condition for a very long time.

What you have been reading comes from the perspective of a House Corporation officer and Chapter Advisor. Knowing that I played a part in making a fabulous new house a reality for Chi Chapter is something I will cherish for the rest of my life, but not because of the physical structure that now sits at 935 Lem Morrison Drive. I feel extremely fortunate to have been associated with the core group of alumni who worked selflessly and tirelessly to boost Chi Chapter of Theta Chi to a level of success not seen in decades. Fraternity is about people, not houses.

I feel blessed that we were able to recruit Mrs. Juanita Garrett to become our wonderful new House Director. I am grateful for our fabulous executive chef, Mrs. Ermon Jones, who has been cooking for Chi Chapter since 1997. I am thankful for the undergraduate leaders who have risen to the occasion in helping the Chapter successfully transition from not having a house to having the best facility on campus. I am thrilled that some of Chi's recent graduates are becoming alumni leaders. I feel fortunate to have had the opportunity to show George Walthall '34 his entry in Chi's roster book. I smile and shake my head in disbelief when I drive along College Street near Toomer's Corner and see the names of prominent Chi alumni Frederic Child Biggin and Charles "Buddy" Davis, who happens to be our lead donor, on two separate buildings in the same field of view.

My father said it best at our grand opening ceremony on September 22, 2007, "Son, the best thing about what is happening here is that so many lives will be made better because of it." I was taken back by how succinctly that statement summarizes my feelings about Theta Chi. Theta Chi has certainly made my life better and I hope that I can return the favor for many years to come.

By the way, we still have that golf tournament every spring. ■

Zeta Pi Chapter Goes Houseless

By Carlton Bennett (Zeta Pi/Old Dominion University '72)

It takes hands to build a house, but only hearts can build a home.

Zeta Pi Chapter has continuously had its own chapter house since the Chapter was installed in 1968. We have owned our own chapter house since 1976, however, the chapter house was built in 1907 and only housed six brothers. It was in constant need of upkeep and repairs. Approximately 10 years ago, we underwent a major renovation on the third floor with the addition of a steel fabricated fire escape which had to be approved by the city of Norfolk, Virginia. Thanks to the assistance of Theta Chi's Norwich Housing Corporation, we were able to fund all of our needed improvements. However, with a house that old and that small, we never broke even with regard to the income from our resident brothers and the ongoing expenses of real estate taxes, mortgage payments, repairs and upkeep.

Last spring, we only had three brothers living in the house and the prospect was not good to fill the house for the fall of 2007, so the Alumni Corporation decided to sell the house. Because of the sub-prime mortgage crisis, several contracts for the purchase of the house fell through. However, in January 2008, we obtained a full purchase contract from the Norfolk Redevelopment and Housing Authority. We will be paying off the loan to the NHC in full and will establish a housing fund with the balance.

The fact that we have always had a fraternity house has had an impact upon the undergraduate chapter. The Chapter had its weekly chapter meetings and, of course, initiation at the chapter house. The house was also a place for brothers to meet and get together, watch television and hang out. We had a pool table and brothers could lift weights in the former bar area.

James Griffin, the current Chapter President, states that it is now more difficult to obtain a consistent meeting place on campus. Recently, the University has designated a meeting room in a classroom building on campus for our use, but the chapter has to apply each week for the meeting space. The chapter house was always there for meetings and, if meetings had to be changed to a different time or a different night, then it was always more flexible to have the meetings at the house. Now the chapter does not have the flexibility to change a meeting. Also, the chapter has lost a place to "hang out" and for brothers to meet up with each other and socialize.

Life in the old house was a challenge, but life without a house is a challenge, too. Zeta Pi plans to build a new facility as soon as possible, but in the meantime, keeping the Chapter together takes a lot of ingenuity and effort. The value of a place where brothers can live together as a family should never be underestimated and stands as a goal for all chapters as Theta Chi Fraternity works to remain strong and to prosper. ■

Gamma Xi Commissions Emblem that Graces IHQ, Chi Buildings

Gamma Xi Chapter originally commissioned a founder, a sculptor and a polishing shop to create this emblem pattern in 1991. One copy was made for their chapter and one was generously donated to the International Headquarters to hang over the front door of its new home in Indianapolis. The pattern was recently rediscovered at the foundry and repaired. Chi Chapter commissioned two copies for use in their brand new house.

Available in either brass ($3,000) or aluminum ($2,000), the crest weighs 65 pounds and stands three feet tall. Any one who wishes to purchase a crest should contact Greg Barr, Gamma Xi Alumni Corporation Secretary, at gregbarr23@yahoo.com. Gamma Xi has pledged that 10 percent of the purchase price will be donated to the Foundation Chapter for use in supporting educational activities within Theta Chi Fraternity.

“You can never go home again, but the truth is you can never leave home, so it’s alright.”

—MAYA ANGELOU

Note from the Editor: In this issue, we focus primarily on chapter houses and what it means to find a home in Theta Chi. Such an issue wouldn’t be complete without mention of the original home for Theta Chi at Norwich University and some reminiscences from one of our most active Alpha Chapter members. These memories were lovingly collected from Dan Fleetham, Sr. by his son, Dan Fleetham, Jr.

The Alpha Chapter brothers moved into their “new” fraternity house in 1905 and it served them for over 50 years.

Due to the requirement that all Norwich University cadets live on the hill, the Alpha House was used only for meetings, dining and socializing. Judge Daniel W. Fleetham, Sr., Alpha/Norwich University ’32, remembers washing dishes as a new member. He also remembers as a new pledge being required to welcome Brothers and guests at the front door during social events, introduce them to some Brothers at the bar, and then return to the front door to greet more people.

The Theta Chi initiations were conducted on the third floor of the Alpha House and Brother Fleetham remembers falling down the back stairway (which just happened to be padded with mattresses) as part of one of the initiation ceremonies.

Brother Fleetham also remembers a marvelous tile version of the Theta Chi crest in the basement floor of that original chapter house. Sadly, this was covered over with concrete after Theta Chi brothers vacated the house and is no longer visible. Also lost in the closing of the chapter was the beautiful stained glass window that graced the front room of the old house.

The Alpha Chapter moved to the new Centennial House just down the road from the old Alpha House in 1957 and remained there until June 1960 when all six national fraternities at Norwich were closed. Both the Alpha House and the Centennial House were sold to Norwich University. The Alpha House is now privately owned as an apartment and office rental. Norwich University continues to use the Centennial House as a home for the university printing services.

The Theta Chi Alpha House was partially burned in 2005. It has since been renovated into two large apartments and a ground floor office. The Foundation Chapter of Theta Chi was fortunate to obtain some original wood during the renovation. These “Pieces of Alpha,” which are currently being made into Theta Chi Foundation Chapter recognition items, will be available at our National Convention in Indianapolis this coming July. ■

NOTE: The Theta Chi Alpha House is being placed on the market this spring. This could be a unique opportunity for some lucky Theta Chi brother to own the original Alpha House of Theta Chi Fraternity. For more information please contact Brother Dan Fleetham, Jr., Theta Chi ’06, at (603) 523-9559 or email him at dfleethamjr@netzero.com.

Your Helping Hand

By Warren Hoffman, Foundation Chapter President (Alpha Iota/Indiana '76)

Each year, the Foundation Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity, Inc. sends letters to thousands of alumni asking them to make a donation to support our mission of providing educational grants and scholarships that directly benefit members of Theta Chi Fraternity. More than 2,000 answer that letter each year by making individual donations that add up to just over $200,000. This program is called our Annual Campaign and, just as recruitment (rush) is the lifeblood of our chapters, our Annual Campaign is the lifeblood of the Foundation Chapter.

We recognize this extension of the "Helping Hand" by listing all those who made a donation in the previous calendar year, grouped by chapter and lifetime giving club, in The Rattle. We want to express our sincere gratitude to all those listed because they provide the financial support that allows us to pursue our mission.

During 2007, we were able to offer educational grants totaling $52,175 and scholarships totaling $89,450. The fall Rattle had pictures of our scholarship recipients, who represented more than 30 chapters. The educational grants reduced the cost to undergraduates from more than 100 chapters to attend Theta Chi leadership events like the School of Fraternity Practices, the Chapter Leadership Conference, Mid-Year Leadership Challenges, and the Deranian Presidents Conference. With your help in 2008, we anticipate increasing this support to more than $65,000 in educational grants and more than $160,000 in scholarships.

In order to continue increasing the total dollar amount of grants and scholarships, we need more of our alumni to join the Annual Campaign. Our five-year plan is to increase our number of participants from a little more than 2,000 per year to over 5,000 per year and to increase the annual total donations from a little over $200,000 to more than $500,000.

While this may sound aggressive, our goal is based upon three very simple metrics.

First, we are asking that all of those named in the donor listing in this Rattle contact two alumni Brothers who are not listed and get at least one of them committed to making a donation.

Second, if you are still reading this article and are not currently included in the donor listing in this Rattle, please give serious consideration to adding the Foundation Chapter to the groups you support annually.

Finally, the Foundation will continue to initiate annual contact with thousands of alumni not currently participating in the Annual Campaign and encourage them to join the Campaign.

This plan sounds simple, but it requires your initiative to be successful.

There are always reasons to say no. Please find a way to embrace this challenge.

If you have not already contributed, getting started with a $25 or $50 donation would really help. Simply make out a personal check to the Foundation Chapter, put Annual Campaign in the memo section, and mail it to:

Foundation Chapter
3330 Founders Road
Indianapolis, IN 46268

We can also accept your donation electronically on our secure website www.thetachi.org/foundation/.

We believe a strong scholarship program will help attract and retain outstanding members. We also believe in the concept of "Brothers Helping Brothers" and we hope you will see the value in helping our young members pursue excellence in their academic and leadership development.

Thank you for your support. Contact us anytime.

We look forward to hearing from you soon.

Foundation Chapter Salutes its 2007 Top Donors

The Foundation Chapter is grateful to all those who have contributed to our mission of promoting the academic, leadership and service ideals of Theta Chi Fraternity. We are very proud of the men who continue to give back to their Fraternity regardless of their personal circumstances, ages, or chapter affiliations.

We would especially like to acknowledge Theta Chi's most generous members, without whose gifts our scholarships would not have been possible.

Congratulations and many thanks to David W. Wurth (Delta Psi '61) and Foundation Chapter Treasurer Michael Roe (Alpha Upsilon '86), the newest members of the Chairman's Council.

We would also like to thank David Rozel (Alpha Psi '49), Jeffry Storey (Zeta Sigma '92), and James McEachern (Beta Psi '82) who achieved membership in the Freeman Fellows Giving Club this past year.

Membership in the Foundation Chapter's Giving Clubs is based on cumulative lifetime giving.

One of the oldest chapter houses, Beta Zeta's house at Michigan State was built in the early 1900s. Extensive renovations have been completed by alumni over the past several years—a major contributor was Jack DeBoer, the founder of Residence Inn.

The outside of the Xi Chapter House has been "tagged" by UVA secret societies to indicate that a Theta Chi has been selected to become a member of their organization. Inside the house is a real-life replica of the badge—two swords crossed over a real taxidermed rattlesnake.

Gamma Theta/SDSU is still in the fundraising stage, but hopes to break ground on this beautiful new house in 2009.

An Epsilon Kappa brother made the architectural plans for this house at the University of Idaho. The official color is battleship gray. They still use the old "cold dorm" system, where one room on each floor has bunks where the members sleep. The individual rooms are for a personal study area.

In the Life of Theta Chi

Ellsworth Receives 2007 Anti-Hazing Hero Award from HazingPrevention.Org

Chad Ellsworth (Alpha Epsilon/Stanford '01) knows the negative impact of hazing firsthand. He was hazed as an undergraduate member of a fraternity at the University of Nebraska. Rather than go along, as so many do, Chad stood up against hazing, left the fraternity and was ostracized for his actions. He found another fraternity home, this time in Theta Chi, and ended up having a positive Greek experience—one that led him to a career in fraternity/sorority advising. As a graduate student, Chad wrote his thesis on hazing, and has written articles and presented workshops on hazing since then. Now, as the Greek Advisor at the University of Minnesota, Chad has the opportunity to impact his students and this issue every day. The Anti-Hazing Hero Awards were presented on November 4, 2007, at the National Hazing Symposium held on the campus of Purdue University.

HazingPrevention.Org is a new non-profit organization whose mission is to empower individuals to expect and create hazing-free environments. The mission is accomplished through recognition of the heroes who are fighting the problem, general awareness-raising efforts, and sponsorship of several annual educational programs including the National Hazing Symposium, generally held in the fall, and National Hazing Prevention Week, which takes place on campuses the last week of September each year.

Alpha Chapter Trophies Return Home

A total of 17 trophies earned by Alpha Chapter prior to their closing in 1960 were donated to the Sullivan Museum and History Center at Norwich University. Through the efforts of Brother Dan Fleetham, Jr. (Honorary Initiate '06), these trophies returned to Norwich again. Among the trophies were awards for academic and sports excellence including a 1929 international fencing tournament held in Canada.

Saunders Named to the Saint Louis Rams Staff

Al Saunders (Gamma Xi/San Jose State University '68) was recently appointed Offensive Coordinator for the Saint Louis Rams professional football team. In a phone conversation the day of his appointment, Al said that Theta Chi Fraternity remains very important to him, and his chapter brothers are still among his closest friends. He is also proud to be a new member of the Freeman Fellows Giving Club.

Iota Theta Supports the Troops

The brothers of Iota Theta Chapter teamed up with the United States Army for the second annual philanthropy event, G.I. Theta Chi, at the University of Central Florida. G.I. Theta Chi came back better than ever this year when Theta Chi Fraternity teamed up with UCF's Greek community to collect calling cards and Wet-Wipes for U.S. troops currently serving our country overseas. These are items that the U.S. Army has requested because they are difficult to acquire in the harsh, chaotic environment of the Middle East. Last year's philanthropy collected over $5,000 in donations, calling cards and Wet-Wipes. All proceeds were donated to the United States Army.

Epsilon Delta Alumni at Youngstown State Univ. Celebrate Homecoming

Once again, Epsilon Delta alumni gathered at Youngstown State University to celebrate Homecoming. This year, the brothers paired with alumni of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. Brothers could be seen socializing, playing a friendly game of cornhole, and enjoying the wide variety of food that was prepared. Many brothers brought their families to join in the festivities. Due to this year's success, plans are already being made for next year's event.

Brannon Wins Mayoral Post in Bellefontaine, Illinois

Political newcomer Adam Brannon (Eta Mu/University of Findlay '07) helped the Democrats gain ground in Bellefontaine's government by taking the mayor's seat. Brother Brannon, 22, out-paced Republican incumbent and two-term mayor, Robert Lentz, by an unofficial count of 940 to 923.

"I've thought about it (becoming mayor) a long time and a lot of people told me, 'There's no way you can win,' but I did. It was a great life experience... a complete dream," he said.

Adam said he was unable to sleep Monday night in the buildup to Tuesday's vote. It was worse than any college final, he acknowledged. His campaign focused on meeting people and he pounded the city's streets to meet residents.

"For the last several years, I haven't been impressed with what was going on in the city," he said. "I figured I had no right to complain if I wasn't going to do something about it and run myself."

Brannon took office January 1.

Theta Chi Alumnus Brings Home the Emmy®

Dr. Tait Martin (Eta Omicron/Northwestern State University '97) and colleagues won honors for a humorous public service campaign that promoted healthy behaviors. Dr. Tait Martin, Vice President of Research for Marketing for Change, Inc., a national social marketing firm based in Tallahassee, Florida, and his colleagues were awarded the golden statuette during ceremonies at the 2007 Suncoast Emmy Awards. Martin is a 1997 graduate of Northwestern State University (Eta Omicron Chapter) and serves on the National Standards Committee. In addition, he is chairman of the Eta Omicron Alumni Corporation and a member of the Gamma Rho (Florida State University) Chapter Advisory Board.

The "Fifth Guy" won for its breakthrough public service ad campaign featuring that guy who just can't seem to follow basic hygiene—a character they nicknamed The Fifth Guy. The series of TV spots, which aired this spring for the Florida Department of Health, won critical acclaim and was linked to a rise in hygienic behavior. The "Fifth Guy" campaign had previously won the prestigious Gold Davey Award from the International Academy of the Visual Arts—the only Gold Davey Award ever presented to a Tallahassee-based advertising agency.

"I'm very proud of this award, but even more proud of the evidence that the campaign changed behavior," said Martin. "It's a privilege to work with great people and clients whose collective goal is to make the world a better, safer place."

The campaign's message was built around a behavioral trigger important to everyone: fitting in. Public opinion research showed that four out of five people wash their hands after using the rest room, and nobody wants to be the "fifth guy" who doesn't.

The Emmy award-winning campaign emerged from an effort to prepare residents for the potential of a pandemic flu. The Florida Department of Health faced a challenge: Floridians did not feel at risk, and for good reason. No one knows when a pandemic might strike. So instead of pitching panic, the health department and Marketing for Change focused on specific behaviors that would hinder a flu outbreak—washing hands, covering coughs and staying home when sick.

A post-campaign survey showed the target behaviors changed noticeably after people were exposed to the ads, and people were more likely to stay home when sick, cover their coughs and wash their hands after using the restroom.

The advertising effort was supported by a publicity campaign that secured national media coverage including an article in USA Today and a feature story on NBC's national weekday morning program, "The Today Show." Public health officials in eight other states are now running the campaign.

The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences (N.A.T.A.S.) nominated the Marketing for Change campaign in the Community/Public Service (PSAs) category. N.A.T.A.S. is a nonprofit organization dedicated to excellence in television. "The Suncoast Regional Emmy® Awards" offer annual Emmy® Awards to television markets throughout the states of Florida, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and Puerto Rico.

Congratulations, Jim Carrier

On November 19, the Navy honored James W. Carrier (Iota/Colgate '84) for his efforts to improve the lives of veterans and provide aid to wounded warriors with the United States Department of Defense Spirit of Hope Award. Brother Carrier helped to raise $40,000,000 for the new Center for the Intrepid, a state-of-the-art rehabilitation center near Fort Sam Houston in Texas, and for the Fisher House Foundation, which builds housing so the relatives of wounded service members can visit them as they recover. He, also, raised money for the Navy SEAL Warrior Fund.

The Spirit of Hope Award honors comedian Bob Hope's values of duty, honor, courage, loyalty, commitment, integrity and selfless dedication by recognizing individuals or organizations who have "selflessly contributed an extraordinary amount of time, talent or resources to significantly enhance the quality of life of service members around the world."

Mark H. Murphy Named Green Bay Packers President and CEO

Mark Murphy (Iota/Colgate '77), the man who led the Colgate football team as captain and went on to lead the athletics department as director, has been named president of one of the most storied franchises in professional sports: the Green Bay Packers. Murphy, who earned Super Bowl and Pro Bowl honors as a free safety with the Washington Redskins, called his appointment a "tremendous" opportunity.

"The Packers are one of the great franchises in all of professional sports, with a rich history and incredible fan support," Murphy said in a statement. "These are successful times for the Packers. On the field they're performing well, and off the field, they're in great shape, too. I look forward to being a part of that continued success."

Murphy played eight years with the Redskins, then became an assistant executive director of the NFL Players Association and later a trial lawyer with the U.S. Department of Justice. He holds a law degree and an MBA in finance.

Murphy, who graduated in 1977 from Colgate, returned to the university as director of athletics in January 1992. He left in 2003 to become athletics director at Northwestern University, his current position.

Germanakos Proud to Be a Big Loser

Brother Bill Germanakos (Delta/RPI '88) took the title as NBC's "Biggest Loser" in the show's December 2007 finale. Forty-one-year-old Germanakos, a medical salesman from Lynbrook, New York, lost 164 lbs. and 49.1 percent of his body weight to claim the grand prize of $250,000 and the coveted title of "The Biggest Loser." Germanakos began the show at 334 lbs. and ended weighing just 170 lbs.

A Theta Chi is the Governor of Illinois

Rod R. Blagojevich (Epsilon Zeta/Tampa '79) is one of the younger governors in the United States. Brother Blagojevich grew up in Chicago but followed his older sibling, Rob, to the University of Tampa. Rob played basketball and was a member of Theta Chi. Younger brother Rod also joined the Fraternity. After two years at Tampa, Rod transferred to Northwestern University back home in Chicago. He received his law degree at Pepperdine University in California.

Brother Blagojevich is considered a moderate Democrat—he even admits he voted for President Reagan in 1980 and 1984. In 1996, at the age of 39, he was elected to the United States Congress representing the Chicago area 5th Congressional District. He was re-elected to Congress in 1998 and 2000, winning the latter race with 87 percent of the votes cast.

In 2002, Blagojevich won the Democratic Party's nomination for Governor of Illinois. He won the general election with 52 percent of the vote and became the first Democrat to be elected Governor of Illinois since 1972. Brother Blagojevich was re-elected in 2006 in a three-way race with 49.8 percent of the vote.

You can learn more about Governor Blagojevich at his official State of Illinois website: <http://www.illinois.gov/gov/>.

Gamma Lambda Chapter Holds Sixth Annual Family Ski Trip

By James J. Moylan (Gamma Lambda/University of Denver '69)

The Gamma Lambda Chapter of Theta Chi Fraternity at the University of Denver held its Sixth Annual Family Ski Trip in the “champagne powder” at “Ski Town USA,” also known as Steamboat Springs, Colorado, during January 16–20, 2008. Although participation was down a little this year, there were some new faces and a great time was had by all. Early birds began to arrive on Wednesday, January 16, 2008, to hit the slopes for three days of skiing on Thursday through Saturday.

Following a cold, overcast, but good, snow day on the mountain on Thursday, the group broke the La Montana tradition and dined at Rex's American Grill & Bar, then went back to the Timber Run Condominiums managed by Steamboat Resorts for late night festivities.

Friday brought much better weather conditions and we all had a great time on the mountain. As has become our custom, we had a “home-cooked” Mexican dinner in the Clubhouse at Timber Run prepared by friends of Theta Chi, Matt and Shad Townsend. New friends of Theta Chi, John, Mary and Elliot Davis, supplied the wine for the evening and weekend. John Davis, from Chicago, is the owner of Geja's Restaurant (Chicago's most romantic fondue restaurant) and Wine Insiders (f/k/a A Taste of California). We all thank the Davis family for their most generous contribution to the evening and the weekend.

Saturday was another good day on the mountain and the weekend's festivities were capped with the traditional closing banquet at Riggio's Restaurant owned by Stacy and Richard Most, who prepared their usual excellent dinners for all the skiers and other attendees. Then it was back to Timber Run for stories of fraternity and college days gone by. Special mention needs to be made of Beth Politi, who joined us for the first time on the ski trip from New Jersey. Beth's husband, our Brother, Joe Politi, passed away this time last year at all too early an age. Beth wanted to be with Joe's brothers at this time and we were so glad she made the trip to be with us. Also, first timers were Dennis Brachfeld and Shelly Bridges, who came up from Denver for the camaraderie.

The Gamma Lambda Chapter Family Ski Trip is typically set around the Martin Luther King holiday in Steamboat Springs, Colorado. All Theta Chi brothers, family and friends are welcome. For information on the Seventh Annual Gamma Lambda Family Ski Trip to be held in January 2009, please contact Jim Moylan at (970) 870-0730 or jjmoylanlaw@aol.com.

Patrick Henry Awards was presented to Conley L. "Chevie" Edwards, III (Nu/Hampden-Sydney '67). Brother Edwards began work as reference archivist for the Library of Virginia in 1974. In 1996, he was appointed the State Archivist for the Library of Virginia, a position he has held ever since. Edwards is a consultant to the Supreme Court of Virginia on a forthcoming documentary on the history of the court.

Rural Doctor Inspires Many

At the age of 80, and after a lifetime of family medicine, Dr. Don Overstreet (Alpha Phi/Alabama '52) is still practicing at a Dallas County clinic north of Selma, Alabama. After serving as a Navy corpsman in World War II, Brother Overstreet used the GI Bill to attend the University of Alabama and then to go to medical school. He eventually moved to Selma, where he joined two veteran doctors. In the mid-70s, Dr. Overstreet began teaching family medicine on a part-time basis. That led to the creation of a family medicine residency program that has turned out more than 100 doctors, most of whom practice in small rural areas. "I'm not a rich man, but I'm not going hungry, either," he said. "I'm doing what I've loved to do all my life."

Larry Himmel, Reporting Live the from Fires in San Diego . . .

By Kyle Weaver (Zeta Sigma/University of Wisconsin-River Falls '04)

In the face of the San Diego wildfires last October, San Diego News 8 reporter Larry Himmel, (Gamma Upsilon/Bradley '68) begrudgingly found himself in a situation that journalists painstakingly try to avoid.

He became the story.

Standing in front of his family's home as wildfires consumed it, Himmel felt a professional obligation to tell people what he was seeing and feeling. "I had a job to do, and that was my job," Brother Himmel said. As emotions swirled and stayed barely in check, he turned to the camera, shared the troubling experience and, in a sense, told San Diegoans that they were not alone in their struggle. The images of Brother Himmel in front of his home quickly caught the attention of audiences both locally and nationally after the video made its way around the Internet. A few days later, he appeared on Larry King Live to discuss the fires and his experience.

For News 8 cameraman Bruce Patch, seeing Brother Himmel connect with his audience was not a new experience. Himmel has, Patch said, a universal appeal. "Everywhere you go, people know Larry," Patch said. "He has this everyday charm that makes people at ease."

That assessment seems to be some distance removed from how Brother Himmel describes himself when he entered college at Bradley University. "I was pretty wet behind the ears," he said. Having grown up in a 'suburban environment' near Chicago, Brother Himmel felt he needed to be at a small school and chose Bradley University because it provided some—but not too much—distance from his boyhood home.

Finding Greek life to be a great way to immerse himself in social and intramural athletic activities, Brother Himmel joined Theta Chi as a freshman. He moved into the Gamma Upsilon Chapter house as a sophomore. As an undergraduate, Brother Himmel found himself sitting under the learning tree of some of the older chapter members and benefiting from the structured chapter environment. Many brothers with whom Himmel bonded in his undergraduate years remain his close friends today.

Brother Himmel graduated from Bradley University in 1968, and obtained a master's degree in speech communications a year later. After graduation, Brother Himmel began pursuing a career in broadcasting, deejaying at radio stations in Pekin and Peoria, Illinois and Hammond, Indiana before landing at a top-rated station in Chicago.

When Brother Himmel visited San Diego, however, he fell in love with the city and decided to stay. He took a bartending job before eventually finding his way into another set of radio station jobs. Then Brother Himmel became the emcee of a popular San Diego comedy club, warming the house with his own brand of local humor. As host, he found himself introducing such young, emerging comic talents as David Letterman and Jay Leno. "I wouldn't put myself in their category, but I got to watch them," Brother Himmel said.

Like Leno and Letterman, though, Brother Himmel's talents were recognized at the club and they led him to bigger things. In 1979, a News 8 executive producer liked what he saw from Brother Himmel and hired him to do "light features and backyard stuff." Shortly after, "Larry Himmel at Large," his series of humorous, off-the-wall commentaries, was born.

Today people sometimes refer to Brother Himmel as 'Mr. San Diego' or 'Mr. Personality.' Though said in jest, the comments, indeed, reflect his character attributes, Patch said.

Patch struck an immediate friendship with Himmel when they met at News 8 more than 28 years ago. They have been unofficially paired together as a news team since. Despite not coming from a journalism background, Patch said Himmel has always exhibited a strong level of professionalism and a mastery of language in his storytelling. Himmel's commentaries and features about 'everyday people' may be humorous, but he's never condescending as he tells his stories. "He never makes light of people," Patch said. "He lets them tell their story."

Himmel has also used his measure of celebrity as a way to extend a Helping Hand. Through the TV station's Force 8 project, Brother Himmel works with San Diego high school students, teaching them how to resolve conflicts without violence. So when the wildfires neared his home, it seemed natural that Brother Himmel thought of others. Though Himmel says he has never enjoyed covering "hard news," the stretched-thin news staff needed his help. So, later that day, Himmel connected with Patch and they did what they always do: found the humanity in the story.

Brother Himmel considers himself very fortunate to have only lost material things, compared to others in the San Diego area who, in many cases, suffered far greater losses. "Some people lost loved ones," he said. "We just lost stuff." Brother Himmel said he has been buoyed by the gestures of support from San Diegoans. Though he hasn't had much contact with Theta Chi since graduation, except for a few close friends, Himmel noted that he received several messages of support from Theta Chi brothers, who heard about the fire or saw his story online.

Brother Himmel and his family will rebuild their home—it won't be designed the same way, but it will be in the same location. Despite all the challenges, his love for San Diego, and for his neighborhood, persist. "I'm kind of a stubborn guy," Himmel said. "You take strength in what you have, in family and in relationships. Those are the really important things." ■

Theta Chi at USC to LEED

Theta Chi Fraternity at USC plans to become the first fraternity house at USC, and perhaps in the entire Greek-letter organization system, to implement the concept known to many as 'green building.'

And, if Thom Cook (Delta Kappa/Ball State '83) has his way, it WILL happen.

The Beta Tau Chapter house, located at 2715 Portland Street just north of the USC campus, will become a model of energy and water conservation, materials and resource usage, environmental impact and innovative design. Created in 2000 by the USGBC (United States Green Building Council), the LEED program (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) is a point-based rating system, allowing a building to be certified as 'green' after satisfying specific building criteria. To meet the required minimum of 34 points for a certified existing building, prerequisites must be met in six categories: Sustainable Sites, Water Efficiency, Energy & Atmosphere, Materials & Resources, Indoor Environmental Quality, and Innovation in Design.

Brother Cook has been diligently working on researching vendors whose products are in line with green building. "There's a difference between products and projects," says Cook. "LEED applies to a building project and not the products which create a habitable home. I'm finding the best, most efficient products on the market to use in the Theta Chi house, wherein usage adds to the point system and we attain our goal to become certified."

And just what are those products? "In the bathrooms, we'll have waterless no-flush urinals, low-flow pressure-assist toilets that use from 1 to 1.6 gallons of water per flush, sinks with auto-shut off features, showers with water-saving heads, and washroom hand dryers that use air instead of paper towels. Our water will be heated, not by conventional, wasteful gas-fired cylindrical storage tanks, but instead we'll use what's common all over Europe—tankless water heaters. Water is heated on demand, eliminating the constant heat/cool cycle of regular storage tanks."

Front elevation drawing of Beta Tau's proposed house.

Thom's excitement is contagious as he describes various features he plans to have installed. "Common areas will feature CFLs (compact fluorescent lamps) that use less energy and have a longer life. Room occupancy sensors will turn lights off after a period of inactivity. What is one thing young college men have a habit of doing? Leaving lights on in a room. That costs money. Installing these features will save our Alumni Corporation funds. Sure, initial outlay is sometimes greater, but the return on investment is very substantial." Cook continues, "Look, the last thing these guys want is someone hounding them to turn off the lights. It'd be like living with their parents all over again. We can make it easier on everyone by simplifying matters."

Next, Thom's plans turn to the bare kitchen, void of the essentials of a commercial space. "You have to be a visionary when doing work such as this. Some people can't see beyond the sawdust and paint cans. Zeta Beta Tau leased this house from NHC (Norwich Housing Corporation) for a good 16 years. They trashed it. When they vacated in the fall of 2006, they took with them all the stainless steel countertops, appliances and cooking equipment, which were gifts from one of their alumni. That left us with a non-functioning space. I look at it as a blessing. We're going to bring in a professional kitchen designer who can show us how to utilize this space, specify the right equipment we need to feed a chapter whose membership averages anywhere from 30 to 45 brothers, and fill it with Energy-Star rated appliances and an eight-burner commercial-grade stove. The chef will be surrounded with an efficient, functional food preparation area. Someday soon, Theta Chi will be hosting their alumni here for Homecoming, Founders Day and various other social events. They'll be able to feed them out of this kitchen, produce great meals, and bring back the camaraderie that takes place when young men gather to dine." Recycling of glass, paper and plastic goods will insure landfill waste is minimized. "We'll capture those containers and add them to the bins. The amount of recyclable matter generated by a fraternity house is immense. Theta Chi will be doing its part by monitoring its waste output."

The exterior of the house hasn't been forgotten either. That's where some of the most extensive changes will occur. Landscape architect Michael Consbruck has collaborated with Cook on plantings, landscaping and lighting. Low maintenance is the key to Consbruck's design. All plantings will be native and drought tolerant so little water is needed to maintain them. Low-voltage lighting will illuminate the front façade, interior courtyard and back patio.

The most ambitious project will be the removal of the large asphalt parking lot and the Way

Riley John Gibbs, Theta Chi President, shows off the renovations being made to the Portland Street house. The environmentally friendly changes include such things as solar panels and more efficient light bulbs.

driveway. It will be replaced with a porous pavement system, which allows the occupants to park, drive, walk and lounge on a beautiful grass surface. The benefits are numerous with this type of installation. Rainwater will filter through the substrate and not collect and run off through gutters. Soil bacteria will consume any pollutants and engine oil. Grass absorbs carbon dioxide and releases oxygen. The large heat-generating expanse of blacktop will no longer exist, keeping the adjacent house cooler. The driveway runs along the shaded north side of the house and will be covered in a decomposed granite/aggregate composition.

The finale will be the installation of solar panels on the roof. "We couldn't have asked for a more perfect location or design of the house. The mid-century home has a flat roof and the property is perfectly aligned to capture the sun's path across the sky. No trees block the area, so we'll be in constant sunlight." Solar power in southern California is a trend that is catching on, thanks to major incentives from power companies. Regulations mandate that the companies have to buy back any surplus wattage produced by the solar array. Cook goes on to explain, "We'll receive up to 80 percent of the system's cost in rebates and tax incentives. We'll be generating our own power and basically eliminate our electric bill. And we'll improve our property's value without increasing property tax. With solar power, we'll be able to efficiently heat and cool the house as well. It all fits together."

How will Beta Tau fund all these enhancements? "I have an answer, though it'll take a lot of work," says Cook as he gazes out across the sundeck. "We're implementing a capital campaign and will be contacting chapter alumni by various means—a mass mailing, phone calls and hosted events. There will be multiple levels of giving and those brothers who donate will be acknowledged on our donor wall, which will occupy an area inside the front entryway. We're going to have to do one heck of a sales pitch, but, I'm sure, once they see the long-term benefits of what we're after, they'll want to become involved and have their name affiliated with a project of this scope and magnitude. Green building doesn't cost one cent more. Just use a common-sense approach to the project and you'll get back all you put into it."

How much is Cook hoping to raise? "I'd like to see us raise $300,000 to $400,000. Given the successful careers of many of the Beta Tau alumni, I know they're out there, waiting to put pen to check and make that pledge. With over 600 living alumni, the means is there. We just have to go after them."

What is the overall benefit? Thom has an answer for that one as well. "This house will cost less to operate and maintain than it did in years past. It will be energy efficient. Gone will be the drafty, ill-fitting original casement crank windows. New dual-paned sliding windows with low-e glass will keep occupants comfortable and safe. A revamped HVAC system will circulate air better than the current outdated, improperly installed units. All flooring surfaces, appliances and furniture will be durable and able to stand up to wear and tear inflicted by college men. Water consumption and waste will be drastically reduced. The lower our utilities, the less we have to charge undergraduates in rent."

"And, Theta Chi stands to benefit from a great public relations perspective. With Greek-letter organizations always taking negative hits from the press, imagine the surprise when naysayers read that a fraternity, and Theta Chi in particular, stands for and leads the way in green, eco-friendly construction and natural resource use and disposal. Scores of press releases would need to be written so that local government, universities, news and television outlets, etc. would all be made aware that fraternities aren't just about beer-chugging and wild parties."

"Think, too, of how this may help to draw in alumni who've been distant from the Fraternity and reluctant to donate, hesitant to attend conventions and conferences, and who are overall unsupportive. We all win—the Foundation Chapter, IHQ and our chapters. And if we find out that we're not the first fraternity to enact this program, we'd be able to learn from whoever was first. It becomes a catalyst for each alumni corporation to review their chapter house and enact changes that will help control costs, reduce pollutants and waste, and contribute to a healthier, safer environment."

Thom Cook, Delta Kappa/Ball State, resides in Los Angeles and is serving his second year as Regional Director of Southern California and Arizona. He also served as Chapter Advisor to Beta Tau/USC, and is a board member on the Beta Tau Alumni Association. He works in the motion picture and entertainment industry.

Going GREEN

Save Energy, Water, and Natural Resources at Home:

Steps:

1. Use energy-saving appliances.
2. Fill your dishwasher as fully as possible to save money and energy.
3. Use fluorescent or LED bulbs, which last longer and use 25 percent less electricity.
4. Unplug or shut down appliances you are not using.
5. Use natural lighting as much as possible to save power.
6. Plant trees to lower cooling costs.
7. Use solar lights in the walkways.
8. Improve the efficiency of your hot water heating by insulating your hot water heater, reducing the water heater thermostat to 120 degrees, and replace hot water heaters with a tankless hot water heater.
9. Run your laundry on warm/cold, not hot.
10. Use your ceiling fan as much as possible.
11. Save on heating and cooling costs by setting thermostats back when sleeping or not home.
12. Install low flow showerheads, low flow toilets and faucet aerators to save water.
13. Use non-toxic dish soap, detergent, and cleaner.
14. Buy sustainable furniture.
15. Buy an irrigation controller that reads the weather and adjusts water according to the conditions to save water.
16. Use non-toxic methods to fight pests.
17. Use a recycling bin.

Project Idea: Create a weekly list of activities your family could do that will help put the at-home ideas into effect.

Project Budget: Record what you have saved each month. Taking time to go green may have some start up expenses but should produce long-term savings.

Time Required: Create a chart of the time you saved each month or week within your own family household or the neighborhood meetings.

How This Affects Your Community:

Send emails of different statistics and easy ways to incorporate going green into your household. Contribute a column to the community newsletter or write to your local newspaper and share the news of how your neighborhood is going green.

Getting Others Involved: Hold monthly neighborhood meetings with each family providing input of how they “went green” during the previous month. Provide incentives for your children/husband/wife.

Save in the Office:

Simple changes in everyday use of energy and management of waste items around the office can benefit the planet.

Steps:

1. Shut down computers when you leave for the day. “Standby” settings will still continue to use power even when not in use.
2. Plug hardware into a power strip with an on/off switch; the whole desktop setup can be turned off at once. Printers, scanners, and other peripherals that are only occasionally used can be unplugged until needed.
3. Always turn off lights in spaces that are unoccupied.
4. Keep things digital whenever possible.
5. Keep files on the computers instead of file cabinets.
6. Review documents onscreen rather than printing them out.
7. Send emails instead of paper letters. Software called Greenprint prevents useless paper (pages with ads, URL links, footnotes, etc.) from being printed.
8. Use recycled products: You can visit any office supply website, type in “recycled” and it provides you with a long list of recycled items. Avoid using throwaway products in the kitchenette. Encourage everyone in your office area to use real dishes and silverware.

Green your Commute: Try to cut down wasted gas by carpooling. Walk or ride a bike if possible. Consider the option of buying a hybrid or another kind of electric vehicle.

Redesign your Workspace:

1. Use furniture manufactured from recycled material.
2. Use compact fluorescent bulbs and high-end LED desk lamps.
3. Use natural daylight as a form of lighting when possible.

Project Resources: Your project might include developing a way to present this information in your workplace. It may include developing a brown bag session and presenting this information to colleagues, a computer screen saver with these tips, or an email ‘Green Office Tip of the Week.’

Project Budget: Identify costs associated with creating materials, scheduling the time, creating and publishing a ‘Green Office Shopping List’ for your colleagues.

Time Required: Record the time you spend soliciting help from co-workers, developing a list, and preparing and making your presentation. Set a date for your presentation. Create a schedule for distributing your ‘Green Office Tip of the Week.’

How This Affects Your Community: Share your thoughts on anything from how the project helped to build camaraderie with your co-workers to cost savings your office realized from the effort.

Getting Others Involved: Enlist a friend from the office to help champion the idea; speak to your supervisor about making this a professional development initiative for you as you demonstrate leadership and organizational skills.

Save at School:

Save energy, water, and natural resources on campus.

Steps:

1. Always use refillable binders instead of buying a notebook every semester.
2. Walk or ride a bike as much as possible. If you must drive, try to park your car and leave it or try public transit systems if you are on a larger campus.
3. Use your printer wisely by printing on both sides of the page if possible, try not to print

“Green design” may be a relatively new term for describing ideas that are environmentally sensitive, but the concept is timeless—particularly as it applies to the home. The principles are simple: Use materials wisely, conserve water and energy, save money in the long term, and create surroundings that are safe and healthy. In other words, follow the standards of good engineering.

Steps

Go online. Find an energy calculator to assess your current energy usage. Try and find one that suits your country. Some sites contain calculators that will automatically tally up the energy efficiency of your house currently. It is also helpful if the site can also produce a graph or tally that can demonstrate what your house’s potential could be after making some minor changes.

Install skylights in your roof. This will allow natural sunlight to illuminate your house for free, especially over rooms that are the darkest. Sunlight is more powerful than any bulb, so the light will flow through much of the room where the skylight is installed.

Install solar panels. Solar heating will provide energy for your house in many ways. It can heat water at the most basic level. Solar energy is pure, clean energy. As an added bonus, the surplus energy can be transferred to a battery and stored for later use; however, be aware that this will increase your costs considerably, depending on the size of the battery. Solar water tanks can heat stored water for whatever reason you need hot water for, such as showers and tea.

Use low wattage light bulbs. These are a great way to save energy easily. They plug straight into any lighting unit and use less energy. Some are even brighter than standard light bulbs but are consuming a lot less energy.

Consider using motion sensor light bulbs for both indoors and outdoors. These will keep you from leaving a room without turning the lights off. Outdoors, they can save a lot of money on wasted electricity but will illuminate your pathway to the door when needed. These are also good burglar deterrents, as the sudden switching on of a light is very disconcerting when unexpected.

Choose low-flow toilet mechanisms. These use less water while still doing the same job as regular toilets. Obviously, you will save water and money on water bills.

Tips

If you use motion lights, get timers for these if you need to keep them on for a set period for any reason.

everything, use the low quality printer setting to save ink.

4. Carry your lap top to class for note taking to reduce paper use.

Project Idea: Create a Facebook “Go Green” group for your school. Create a tips section on how to save money with school supplies, time, and energy.

Project Budget: Note any costs associated with developing and maintaining the group. The cost should be none or minimal but it’s best to plan ahead. For example, the local waste management company may make recycle bins available at no charge. Otherwise, you may find it necessary to purchase bins at a local big box retailer.

Time Required: Develop a schedule for checking the page and posting new information to it. Develop a schedule for collecting and emptying recycle bins.

How This Affects Your Community: Have a blog entry section letting others know how you save energy, time, resources, etc. Share your thoughts on going green for your whole school to see.

Getting Others Involved: Have your university sell organic T-shirts in the bookstores and promote the facts about the difference between cotton and organic. Have recycling bins outside of every building.

Save in the Dorm or Chapter House:

Simple changes in everyday use of energy and management of waste items in student housing can benefit the planet.

Steps:

1. Recycle everything.
2. Use the dorm kitchen appliances to save energy. If you really need your own refrigerator, use thermoelectric mini refrigerators.
3. Use compact fluorescent light bulbs.
4. Use a power strip and remember to unplug it.
5. If your dorm has air conditioning, try turning it on to cool the room but remember to turn it off when you leave or when you go to bed at night.

6. Take shorter showers.
7. Carry a refillable plastic water bottle.
8. Use organic cotton sheets.
9. Choose biodegradable cleaning products which keep petroleum use to a minimum and minimize toxins in the environment.
10. Consider used items when shopping for dorm essentials.
11. Choose a diet based on whole grains, fruits and vegetables, lean proteins, etc. to reduce carbon.
12. Donate dorm supplies you will not use in the future instead of throwing them away.
13. Limit your use of disposable cups, plates, and paper napkins.
14. Purchase vegetable-based laundry detergent.

Project Idea: Create a system within your dormitory/student housing for donating used, unwanted furniture, supplies, appliances, etc. Have a sale at the beginning of the semester for students to save money and save resources at the same time.

Project Budget: If your dormitory/student housing cannot take part in donation and resale of furniture, try thrift stores.

Time Required: Have an input box on each floor to let people know how you saved money, time, or energy that week. The RA could read them at the end of each week or post them on the bulletin board for everyone to see.

How This Affects Your Community: Create a bulletin board on each floor of the dormitory/student housing with different “Tips of the Week” on how to go green. It could be “did you know” statistics, ways to save energy or resources, etc.

Getting Others Involved: Organize residence hall competitions to see who can save the most energy and water.

Joe Wachs Moves On . . .

By Kyle Weaver (Zeta Sigma/University of Wisconsin-River Falls '04)

Author's Note: As a former Leadership and Education Consultant who learned a lot from Joe Wachs, I would like to personally express my gratitude to Joe for his service to Theta Chi. Joe, you truly are a great Brother.

As is often the case with resumes, a list of job descriptions and credentials alone cannot fully describe Joe Wachs. Brother Wachs, Delta Kappa/Ball State University '98, has held several titles in his service to Theta Chi Fraternity, and his accomplishments are indeed many. Yet his greatest effects on the Fraternity are more than likely the intangible and hard to document ones.

Brother Wachs stepped down last fall as Director of Chapter Services and Expansion after seven years of employment at the International Headquarters as the longest-serving Director of Chapter Services in Fraternity history.

He began his career with Theta Chi in June 1999 as a Leadership and Education Consultant visiting chapters primarily in the southern United States. He continued his travels the following school year as a consultant tasked with expanding the Fraternity. Specifically, Brother Wachs helped establish Theta Chi chapters at Radford University (Iota Zeta) and Georgia State University (Iota Epsilon). In April 2001, he accepted the DCS role vacated earlier that year by Scott Thomas, Delta Kappa/Ball State '97.

During his tenure as Director of Chapter Services and Expansion, Brother Wachs helped hire, train and manage 31 Leadership and Education Consultants, 10 of whom served the Fraternity for more than two years. Among them was current Director of Undergraduate Services, Ben Hill, Eta Kappa/James Madison University '02. For Brother Hill, having Wachs supervise him as a first-year LEC was never about strict pecking order. "He was always more a brother than an employer," Hill said. A few years later, when Brother Hill, also, became a director, Brother Wachs continued his professionalism treating him with even more respect as a co-worker, collaborator, and equal, Brother Hill said.

As a member of the Headquarters Staff, Brother Wachs worked with the Fraternity's Regional Plan Committee and helped support the efforts of more than 75 Regional Counselors. He facilitated education sessions at scores of educational events and summer leadership conferences and was often tasked with coordinating transportation for brothers and other volunteers during those events, which frequently made him the first familiar face seen by brothers traveling to the events.

Former Theta Chi Executive Director Dave Westol, who hired Brother Wachs to work for Theta Chi, noted his efficacy at coordinating the Fraternity's expansion efforts as DCS, working with universities and inter-fraternity councils to obtain the go-ahead to expand. Under his direction, Theta Chi added a dozen chapters to the active roster. "It was his hard work that led to the proverbial pipeline being filled with expansion and re-colonization opportunities," Brother Westol said. Brother Hill agreed, "He definitely opened a lot of doors and got us into some places."

Brother Wachs' professionalism and commitment to inter-fraternalism were both a credit to Theta Chi's expansion efforts and evidence of his character, Brother Westol said. "You could always count on (Joe) to do and say the right thing," according to Hill. "He had a high credibility factor with Greek professionals," Westol said. "They knew they could trust him. If Joe said that a colony would receive three visits each semester, that was money in the bank."

Brother Wachs is currently employed with Right On Interactive, an Internet technology company as a marketing specialist. He lives in the Indianapolis area with his wife, Melanie, and his 2-year-old son, Carter. The Wachs family is expecting the birth of a second child in July.

In the true spirit of Theta Chi for Life, Joe is continuing his service to the Fraternity as a regional counselor in the Midwest region.

Under Joe Wachs' leadership as Director of Chapter Services and Expansion, six new chapters were installed and six inactive chapters were reinstated. Those chapters are:

- Theta/University of Massachusetts
- Alpha Iota/Indiana University
- Beta Tau/University of Southern California
- Gamma Rho/Florida State University
- Delta Phi/University of North Texas
- Epsilon Kappa/University of Idaho
- Iota Epsilon/Georgia State University
- Iota Zeta/Radford University
- Iota Eta/University of the Pacific
- Iota Theta/University of Central Florida
- Iota Kappa/Northern Arizona University
- Iota Lambda/Longwood University

EFFORTS IN EXPANSION

By Michael Mayer, Associate Executive Director (Epsilon Phi/University of Central Missouri '04)

The 2007–2008 academic year has been very exciting for Theta Chi in terms of growth.

On Saturday, April 12, 2008, our Beta Delta Chapter at Rutgers-The State University of New Jersey was re-installed. In addition, Alpha Upsilon/University of Nebraska-Lincoln achieved Colony status on February 16, 2008.

At the time of publication, Theta Chi has three colonies: Alpha Upsilon/Nebraska-Lincoln, Gamma Delta/Florida Southern, and Gamma Eta/Bucknell and one newly recognized Interest Group at University of Missouri.

This fall the International Headquarters Staff has plans to re-colonize Alpha Lambda/The Ohio State University and Epsilon Tau/Stephen F. Austin State University.

Alumni involvement is critical to the success of our colonies and interest groups. If you are interested in serving as an advisor to one of our current or future colonies/interest groups or would like to learn more about Theta Chi's future plans for expansion, please contact Mike Mayer (317)-824-1881, or email mmayer@thetachi.org.

Building a Dream

By Dale Taylor, Executive Director (Alpha Phi/Alabama '69)

There was always something special each fall as I came back to school and walked into the Fraternity house. It was not just the excitement of another year of school, nor was it the anticipation of seeing everyone again after the summer break. I actually believe the house had a certain smell, just like a new car smell, that was only there, at that house, and at that time. Yeah, I know, stale beer and leftover food can do that after three months, but it was not that. Actually, to me, it was the smell of brotherhood. It meant we would soon be asking new men to join our Theta Chi. It meant a chance to make new friends, some of whom would be lifelong friends.

You do develop connections to smells, sights and words in your mind so that one triggers other thoughts. Those of us from that time still refer to the “new” house although now it is almost 50 years new. That facility, with its smells and look, triggers lots of great thoughts for me about the Brotherhood I joined those many years ago.

A facility can be much more than something to bring back memories; it can be the agent that brings on change, or improves morale of the group, or encourages more men to pledge, or offers new connections to those already members in our Fraternity. We have had several groups build new facilities lately thanks to those alumni who remember their fraternal experience and want to insure that others have the same opportunities to develop memories and to join the great connecting Brotherhood of Theta Chi. The alumni of Chi Chapter at Auburn University are a great example of taking a vision and turning it into something that benefits the development of the chapter. A dream of many years came to fruition last year under the leadership of many loyal alumni and followers of the Tigers.

We need to believe that dream can happen everywhere with increased chapter involvement of our alumni brothers and with help in developing the undergraduate members. Our Creed begins with “I believe in Theta...” so let us all believe and remember—for me, the smell and the individuals; for you, perhaps a different trigger.

Clasp the hands of your friends, your Brothers, and make it “We believe.”

My best wishes to you for a great 2008 and always.

Fraternally,

Dale Taylor
