LEADERSHIP JOHNSON COUNTY
2013 ANNUAL REPORT

Dear Johnson County Friends:

Leadership Johnson County (LJC) is beginning its twentieth year in our community. From a conceptual idea to help leaders grow and engage in their communities, LJC has blossomed into one of the premier leadership programs in the state of Indiana. Through the cornerstones of collaboration and teamwork, each consecutive class learns important lessons about themselves and the community where they live and work.

But what is information without action? What separates LJC from many other learning opportunities is the component of engagement – the process of working collectively with and through people in the community to address issues affecting people in the community. Through program days dedicated to education about the community, and partnerships with agencies and organizations within the community, LJC provides class members with a unique opportunity to engage in their world.

With over 500 graduates of the program, these lessons are multiplied as the members of each class take the lessons learned and apply them to their work and home lives. It is our hope that this dissemination of information helps to mold our community into a place that is inclusive and works together to formulate and implement creative ideas to overcome community issues.

This year's class graduated 35 participants from all around the county, in many different professions. Project groups continued to find new and creative ways to engage in helping our community. Please take a moment to look through our annual report. I think you will be pleased to find many familiar faces throughout our pages. If you aren't involved in the program, there is no better time than now to see what LJC is all about.

To another fantastic year!

2012-2013 CLASS PROJECT GROUPS

A key component to the LJC experience is the completion of a community project. The class is broken into groups who work together to address current or recurring problems within Johnson County. Projects vary from year to year, but the goals of engaging in creative problem solving through collaboration remain the same.

Restoring Guideposts to Our Past

Restoring Guideposts to Our Past reviewed the inventory of 36 Johnson County historical markers, created by the 1997 LJC project team, and updated it to include additional markers installed since its completion. Next, this group set out to restore and repair local historical markers, to assist others in experiencing the hidden treasures that tell our county's story. From left: Matt Giebler, Bridget McDaniel, Chris Purcell, Becky Tilson, John Siminski, Erin Dunn-Vance, Mark Richards.

Play It Forward Theater

Play It Forward Theater involved a series of interactive skits presented to Indian Creek Middle School students. The skits focused on helping students make positive decisions in their lives prior to facing real life situations by demonstrating both the positive and negative impact of their choices. From left: Talene Shuck, Steve Tames, Mike Grizzle, Jill Sweeney, Ben Heber, Trudy Perry, Karen Rumble.

Helping Others Help Others – Favorite Food Fair

Helping Others Help Others worked to facilitate a gathering of numerous non-profits to raise financial support and service awareness for their organizations through a one-day fundraising event at the Johnson County fairgrounds. The event format provided an opportunity to collaborate in fundraising efforts, promote their organizations and generate funds to further their mission. Over 400 people attended the event. From left: Louis Hilbert, Tina Gross, Dorcas Abplanalp, Tauria Catlin, Karen Buckler, Lisa Campbell, Brian Darby.

Speak Up

Speak Up dedicated their project to raising awareness of the current concerns, challenges and goals of Johnson County youth. The team developed an on-line survey focusing on barriers preventing students from participating in after-school activities, as well as more general questions about their school experiences. Surveys were distributed to several Johnson County schools, data was collected, and an analysis was given to participating schools and youth programs. From left: Scott Gilliam, Jen Whitson, Jeremy Pell, Jennifer Clark, Ashlyn DeWitt, Davin Kolderup, Dana Johnson.

Tree Dedication Program

Through collaboration with the Franklin Parks and Recreation Department, this group implemented a comprehensive program allowing citizens, corporations and organizations to dedicate trees to be planted in the Urban Forest area of the previously devastated flood plain in Franklin. Trees can be purchased through the Franklin Parks and Recreation Department in honor or memory of a person or event. ## COMMUNITY PARTNER ENGAGEMENT

Leadership Johnson County values the work that we - as a community - can accomplish by working together. Throughout our existence, LJC has strived to engage with other organizations, nonprofits and people within Johnson County to provide continuing education opportunities to keep our community moving forward.

While leadership skills are imperative for an organization to move forward, especially in these economic times, education dollars are non-existent for many small business owners and non-profit organizations. Through a partnership with the Johnson County Community Foundation, LJC offers the nonprofit community a low-cost learning opportunity through "Nurturing Nonprofits." Additionally, LJC and JCCF have worked together to provide free Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) training to nonprofit organizations in Johnson County.

A collaborative effort between the Franklin Chamber, Greenwood Chamber, Johnson County Community Foundation and LJC addresses the need for businesses to keep up-to-date on the best practices in leadership through our series "Learn 2 Lead."

LJC partners with the Johnson County Development Corporation to present "Leaders In Motion," which features a local business presenting best practices and offering a tour of their facility.

Since its inception, LJC has worked with Franklin College to develop, implement and sustain our program. Led by Franklin College Leadership Department Chair and Director of LJC Curriculum, Bonnie Pribush, this partnership has blossomed over the years to help our community better engage with college students.

SERVANT LEADERSHIP

Diane Black Servant Leader Award – Lee Ann Wilbur

Leadership Johnson County awarded the 2013 Diane Black Servant Leader Award to Habitat for Humanity Executive Director, Lee Ann Wilbur. This award is given to an LJC graduate who exemplifies servant leadership and is currently involved in a community project/activity or program impacting the citizens of Johnson County. Ms. Wilbur exemplifies servant leadership through her direction of the Johnson County Habitat for Humanity, an organization that works to raise funds and build homes for families who otherwise could not afford them. Ms. Wilbur has been involved with numerous other community and civic organizations and committees. She is a current member of the Leadership Johnson County Board of Trustees and also sits on the Board of Directors for Johnson County REMC as the Secretary/Treasurer. Ms. Wilbur has dedicated her career to helping others and LJC is pleased to recognize her for her dedication to our community through this award.

The Diane Black Servant Leader Award was created in honor of Diane Black, a person who exemplifies servant leadership. Diane was a member of the first graduating class of Leadership Johnson County in 1995. She went on to serve the organization as program coordinator for five years and continues to serve Johnson County through her involvement in various organizations.

LJC PROGRAM DAYS

The LJC Experience begins with a two day retreat dedicated to learning about leadership theory, developing your own definition of leadership, MBTI training and getting to know your classmates.

Program days are dedicated to learning about Johnson County agriculture, infrastructure, media, quality of life, social services, economic development and government.

Each year the class forms project groups who work together and learn the process of community engagement by identifying a problem or issue and working together to form a solution.

Applications become available each February with a deadline in mid-March. For more information, please contact the LJC office at 317-738-8264.
Come be a part of the next BEST class of leaders!
