

FAMILY

This week's theme is Pokémon!

Pokémon Training

Supplies: Pokémon Action Cards, Props (optional)

Instructions

1. Create cards that recreate some of the Pokémon character's attacks or moves, if you have a Pokedex this can be a lot of fun and keep them entertained for a good hour.

You can also use the cards that are available at this link https://www.andnextcomesl.com/2016/03/free-printable-pokemon-action-cards.html?utm_source=twitterfeed&utm_medium=twitter&m=1

2. Once you have the cards created you can play this in a variety of ways:
 - a. Pokemon Trainer Says (Simon Says)
 - b. Charades
 - c. Battle Style (For the more advanced Pokémon players)
 - d. Let them create their own game

Pokémon Planter

Supplies: Plastic soda bottle, sharpie, scissors, pencil, acrylic paint, paint brush, paper, glue

Instructions

1. Wash, clean, and dry your bottle. Determine your desired height for planter, use a marker to trace the ears and top of head at determined height.
2. Using scissors cut out along traced line. (An adult should do this step)
3. Prepare the paint for your planter. (I mixed green and white to get the shade I desired for Bulbasaur) Paint the entire outer surface of the bottle, you may need to use more than one coat of paint for your desired look.
4. While this is drying. Draw and color the eyes and other desired features on white paper. (This is easier than drawing/painting on a curved surface.
5. Once the bottle is completely dry glue the paper features to the bottle.
6. Then you can use a sharpie to draw any remaining features on such as a mouth, eyebrows, etc.
7. Finally fill with soil and your favorite plant.

Pokémon Pencil Holder

Supplies: Empty and clean tin can, colored paper, white paper, pencils, markers, scissors, tape

Instructions

1. Start by measuring and cutting your colored paper for the tin. Make sure it is high enough and long enough to wrap around the tin once plus a little extra.
2. Draw and color the Pokémon features on the white paper. Cut out features. (eyes, mouth)

3. Glue these to the colored paper. Add any additional details in black marker such as nostrils or eye brows.
4. Tape paper to your tin.
5. Place pencils, markers, crayons, or any of your favorite writing utensils!

Pokémon Challenge!

Supplies: Only items from your house

1. Your challenge is to create a Pokémon costume using only materials from your house. You will have to be very creative with this and I know you can do it!
2. If you are willing please share a picture with us!
