To Whom It May Concern,

RE: Mr. Dennis, Travis & Trevor Bush,

As the Project Superintendent for Contegrity Group, Inc. a Minnesota based Construction Management firm, I've had the experience of working with Mr. Dennis, Travis and Trevor Bush of Pauly Jail Building Company, Inc. In each of our several county jail projects, the Bush Family's performance was invariably accountable to the project schedule. Considering my project superintendent position, it is always preferred to able to show the client/owner one's ability to complete the project on time. This notion is much more easily achieved when working with competent individuals such as the Bush Family.

Aside from having a knowledgeable and competent workforce, the overall project disposition in most cases eventually impacts schedule. During my tenure in the commercial construction industry, I have recognized the importance of maintaining a harmonious project environment. Dennis, Travis and Trevor Bush apparently understand this concept as well, as they always do their part to enhance project teamwork. They have distinguished themselves as every construction tradesman's example of what the construction site discipline should be.

It is my recommendation that those companies working with correctional facility construction should undoubtedly consider working with the Bush Family for detention equipment installations. I admire their unyielding positive attitude in what sometimes is to performing less than appreciable or satisfying work. I would welcome any future opportunity to again work with this family again.

Respectfully,

Travis Fuechtmann
