

CORRECTIONAL COMPLEX

Michael K. Books, Sheriff

April 11, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

The Elkhart County Correctional Complex opened on November 16, 2007, and has an approximately capacity of 950 inmates. Although many letters are written about a company's performance, this letter is about one specific person: John Gilmore, employee of Pauly Jail Company.

Mr. Gilmore worked on-site at the Elkhart County Correctional Complex during the construction phase, installing a wide variety of correctional hardware including door locks, windows and the Pevac brand bi-fold gates used throughout the facility. As a member of the design team, I had numerous site visits during the construction process and I was able to observe Mr. Gilmore not only coordinate other workers, but clearly he is a man who would get things done; a very hands on worker.

Most recently, John Gilmore returned to the site and made some adjustments on some hardware. However an unexpected glitch caused him to stay much longer than anticipated. In fact the issues discovered could have been easily glossed over, as the trouble was not apparent to anyone on-site. Mr. Gilmore took the initiative and thoroughly inspected and repaired all issues, even beyond what the agreed scope of his visit was.

Mr. Gilmore is the type of person I would want working for me as he takes initiative, is highly skilled as well as thorough in all his work.

Sincerely,

Captain Brad Rogers
Corrections Commander

BR:vl

