Author Sue Stewart Ade to Visit Franklin Branch

Ade Will Have a Book Signing for Her Novel, "Friends Forever"

Franklin, Ind. – Author Sue Stewart Ade will be at the Franklin, Branch on Oct. 14 from 11-1 to sign her novel, "Friends Forever."

Ade is a former resident of Franklin, and her novel was a finalist in the Pacific Northwest Literary Contest. Her novel, "Friends Forever," is a romantic suspense set in the small town of Hickory Hills. Local residents might notice similarities to the town of Franklin.

Ade worked for Franklin College, supervising student teachers and was a volunteer for the Adult Center of Johnson County Library and Johnson County Senior Services. Her husband, Larry Ade, was an accountant for Superior Essex.

While living in Indiana, Ade received writing awards from Indiana University, Midwest Writers Association at Ball State and Central Indiana Writers' Association.

The book will be available to purchase at the signing for $15.00.
